Neurotransmitter Set

- all thirteen chips sold together for the best price.
- however, they are also available individually at the regular retail price.

The AkuRy neurotransmitter information chips should support the optimum dissemination of information by neurotransmitters and hormones on the subtle level in the human body and promote the interaction of the neurotransmitters with each other.

ACE	Acetylcholine is the most important neurotransmitter in the peripheral nervous system. The messenger substance mediates the transmission of nerve impulses to muscles. In addition, acetylcholine plays a major role in the autonomic nervous system, respiratory, heart and metabolic control.
ADR	Adrenaline, a stress hormone, is formed in the adrenal medulla and secreted in physical/mental stress. Its main function is the adaptation of the cardiovascular system and the metabolism of stress-related charges. With adrenaline, our system is "booted". Alarm! Danger! Energy demand! Flight or fight! Fat and sugar are provided, increases the blood pressure.
COR	Cortisol is one of the biochemical messengers (hormones) and is formed in the adrenal cortex. The spectrum of activity of this hormone is very diverse. Among others, Cortisol is involved in the regulation of growth and in numerous metabolic processes such as lipid metabolism, the protein turnover and the carbohydrate metabolism.
DHEA	DHEA (dehydroepiandrosterone) is the hormonal fountain of youth in us. It is the precursor of many hormones in the body and therefore is considered the "mother of all hormones". It occurs in both men and women. In "Burnout", it is of relevance that DHEA is an opponent of cortisol. It turns the body back on austerity. Other effects: anti-oxidation, anti-free radical, anti-inflammatory, important in immune response.
DOP	Dopamine also works against fatigue and tiredness. It is the precursor of norepinephrine and epinephrine and therefore one of the most important neurotransmitters (chemical messengers) in the central nervous system.
GABA	GABA (gamma-aminobutyric acid) is a protein compound formed in the body (Amin) of glutamic acid and the effect of her most important inhibitory (inhibitory) neurotransmitter in the nervous system. Among the neurotransmitters, GABA belongs to the "Brake System". We need GABA to "to calm down" again.
GLU	Glutamate is a salt of glutamic acid, which occurs naturally in the human body, and is not only part of proteins, but also has an important function as a messenger (neurotransmitter) for the central nervous system.
HIS	Histamine is a biogenic amine, it belongs to the category of so-called tissue hormones. The substance plays a central role in many physiological and pathophysiological processes, and is, among others, an important mediator in inflammation.

- MEL Melatonin is a hormone that regulates sleep. It sets the pace for our hormonal cycles. Lack of melatonin results in lassitude and lethargy and sleep disorders occurring in “burnout”.
- NHN Nerves, hormones, neurotransmitters: This chip contains frequencies for the regeneration of nerves. On an energetic level, the permeability of the nerve fiber system and the optimum dissemination of information by neurotransmitters and hormones are supported.
- NORA Noradrenaline is an important activating neurotransmitter of the central autonomic nervous system (sympathetic). Cardiovascular, respiratory, metabolic and gastrointestinal functions are controlled by the autonomic nervous system. This also explains why some people with stomach and intestinal problems respond to stress. (Dyspepsia, irritable bowel syndrome).
- PEA PEA (Phenethylamine) was detected in plants (cocoa beans) and it also occurs in our body. It is as a parent substance of many hallucinogens, which are linked to the appearance of pleasure and happiness sensation. This happiness messenger is often cited because it is also contained in chocolate.
- SER Serotonin is known as the body’s own antidepressant (happiness hormone). It is a soothing, relaxing and strongly mood-lifting neurotransmitter. It is sleep inducing, antidepressant, pain relieving and motivating. In addition, serotonin positively influenced the saturation feeling and thus acts appetite-regulating.

These AkuRy Information “Frequency” Chips are a quality product from Germany endorsed by Dr. Charles Krebs creator of the Learning Enhancement Achievement Program. He utilizes several of these chips in his practice to speed his LEAP Brain Integration and Environmental Factors protocols.

These information chips are able to instantly de-compensate numerous levels of stress to allow a kinesiology or other complementary health practitioner to better target issues and more quickly provide deep rebalancing.

Many therapists, physicians and complementary practitioners use a complete set of information chips by this manufacturer for rapid assessment and to assist in treatment. Additionally, the chips have a tremendous supportive effect and many users either sell chips to their clients or provide them for a rental fee to be utilized to support the results of a therapy session. They also work wonderfully well outside of a formal treatment session.

The creator of the chip states: “The chips act only by activation (for example: 10-15 seconds in your hand or place it on a specific place on the body intuitively). The operation of the chips is similar to a CD. If you simply look at a CD, you cannot see anything however there is information stored on it. Only once installed into a player does this information become audible or visible. In our case, the player is our body. The chips operate on the principle of resonance – our body only processes the frequencies it needs. Overcharging will not occur.

Each therapist develops his own method to work with these information chips. They are universally recognized at bringing stability into body-work or counselling sessions. This stability continues over weeks or even months after treatment.
